Get your FREE Game Club Membership Card

Back in the early 1980s, Mattel created the Intellivision Game Club to form a community of Intellivision owners. A quarterly newsletter informed members of upcoming games, contests, and news. $1.50 got you a subscription to the newsletter and a wallet-sized membership card. Now, in the 21st-century, the Game Club continues. It is now free and the newsletter is delivered monthly via email. If you are reading this, you probably are a member. But what about the membership card? Well, now you can get the membership card free, too. Just send a self-addressed stamped #10 envelope to Intellivision Productions, Inc., 2200 Pacific Coast Hwy Suite 206, Hermosa Beach CA 90254 and we'll send you your membership card: a reproduction of the original 1980s card. Fill in your name and proudly show your allegiance to Intellivision! "But wait," we hear you say. "When you send the envelope back to me with the card, are you going to stick in a bunch of ads for merchandise with it?" OK, you got us, Columbo. We will be including some info about Intellivision merchandise and some discount coupons. We think you'll find it's worth it.

Blue Sky Rangers Speak at SoCal Retro Gaming Expo!

By popular demand: Intellivision Flashback hand controllers!

A number of you have been wanting to buy extras of the Intellivision Flashback hand controllers. So we are now offering them in our web store! Only $8.49 each, plus shipping and handling. These are the same controllers that come with the Intellivision Flashback, with a 9-pin connector and a straight (non-curved) cord. Note: these controllers are NOT compatible with the original Intellivision, Intellivision II or Sears Tele-Games Super Video Arcade consoles unless you use an adapter cable at an additional cost, also available in our store.

TRIVIA CONTEST!

Hear The Blue Sky Rangers Panel from Arcade Expo 2.0!

On January 16th, 2016, five of The Blue Sky Rangers spoke at Arcade Expo 2.0 in Banning, California. Mike Wlnans (Lock 'N' Chase), Keith Robinson (TRON Solar Sailer), Bill Fisher (Space Hawk), John Sohl (Astrosmash) and Don Daglow (Utopia) spoke to a full house about developing Intellivision games at Mattel Electronics in the early 1980s. Did you miss it? Well, you can listen to the hour-plus long discussion here on The Intellivisionaries Podcast, Episode 24.

Of the ten Blue Sky Rangers who spoke at the SoCal Retro Gaming Expo in January (see story and photo in left column), which one of them was never an employee of Mattel Electronics?

Email your answer to trivia@intellivisionlives.com. Winner will be selected at random from all correct answers received before noon PST March 1st, 2016. An additional winner will be awarded to the first correct answer received. Both winners will each receive an Intellivision Running-Man poster. Good luck!

THE JANUARY TRIVIA CONTEST

Last month's question: "The ECS game World Series Major League Baseball uses the last names of the Intellivision staff for the players, with nicknames replacing their first names. What nickname is given to the Don Daglow player in the game?" The answer: Duke Michael Lelinski and Todd Holcomb will each receive an autographed copy of Don Daglow's new novel The Fog Seller for being the first to answer and for being selected randomly from those who answered correctly, respectively. Congrats!
