

As we get into the full swing of the holiday season and surround ourselves with friends and family, I am reminded and energized by the mission we embarked on with Amico and its potential to bring people together.

In my update last month, we announced the public beta release of Amico Home™ for Android®! Since its release we've been overjoyed to watch the community finally get a chance to bring the Amico experience into their homes and see the unique moments and connections it creates. We especially love hearing how many adults are playing Amico Home™ with their children. ❤️

It has also been exciting to see people experiment and figure out new ways to get Amico Home running on different devices and setups. Two people posted pictures on the "Intellivision Amico Club" Facebook group showing Amico Home and Amico Controller running simultaneously on one device! The Samsung Galaxy Z Fold® and the Microsoft Surface Duo® have two screens and can run two apps at the same time. Amazing! Your creativity and feedback inspires us to further improve the products and to continue expanding the reach of Amico Home™!

Last month we mentioned a few things as "coming soon." Well, "soon" is today! Just in time to help light up the holidays, we have good news to share and a little thank-you gift from all of us to all of you.

Amico Home™ News

The Intellivision team is excited to announce three new additions to Amico Home!

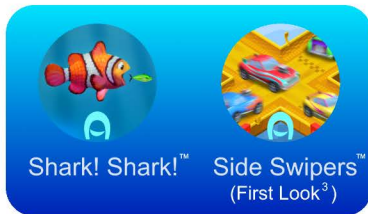

Amico Controller App Released for Apple iOS®

The Amico Controller app for iOS is now available for free in the App Store. You can now use a mix of Android® and Apple devices as controllers, giving you more flexibility to bring people into the fun with Amico Home™¹. Connect as many as eight controllers to Amico Home™². As always, we are interested in your comments. Join the Amico Club™ and provide your feedback!

Two New Games Released for Amico Home™

Following the releases of Astrosmash® and Missile Command®, the beloved Shark! Shark!™ and a first look³ of Side Swipers™ are available now to download from the Google Play® Store.

As a beta release, you will find the apps in the "Be the first to try" section of Google Play® Store, or go to the Intellivision Amico publisher page on Google Play® Store. Of course, the easiest way to find them is in the SHOP section of the Amico Home app which takes you directly to their page on the Google Play® Store.

We welcome any private feedback you'd like to send us through the "Write feedback" link on the store page of each app. Your bug reports and suggestions will help us improve the experience for you and for future customers when we roll out of beta into full product marketing to families around the globe.

Amico Club™

If you haven't already joined the brand new Amico Club™ website, head on over and create your account today! It's free to join! Not only is this the central hub to manage your Amico gaming experience, you will get access to unique content, special offers and features.

For example, if you are one of our valued Amico Console pre-order customers, you can confirm your deposit on the site to enable access to a download code for Shark! Shark!™. All of the console pack-in games are eligible for this perk to pre-order customers as the games are released on Amico Home™ for Android®.

If you are one of our valued Limited Collector's Boxed Edition owners, you can register your boxed edition products on the site to access download codes for those games as they become available on Amico Home™ for Android®. Your physical products will, of course, still be good for installing the games on the Amico console.

Whether you have a pre-order or Boxed Edition or not, we encourage all Intellivision fans to join the Amico Club™. Sign up is free and easy, and you'll find useful resources and information related to all things Amico. Amico Club™ is also where you can share your input and feedback to help us improve and make a positive difference in the ways we build lasting bonds and memories through gaming. If that isn't enough reason to join, we are offering a limited-time discount to the online Intellivision Shop for Amico Club™ members!

Special Amico Club Member Holiday Discount

As a little token of appreciation for our supporters, we are offering a 15% discount at the online Intellivision Shop for all Amico Club™ members. Whether you're looking for the perfect gift to give a fellow Intellivision fan or want to snatch up something for yourself, the Intellivision store offers a variety of fun Intellivision and Amico merchandise that make great gifts. The sale begins today and will end on December 25th at 11:59pm PST. Simply sign in or join the Amico Club™ to get your discount code and start shopping!

Happy Holidays

On behalf of Team Intellivision, I wish you all a wonderful holiday season and appreciate your continued support of Amico.

We hope you take the opportunity to spend time with your loved ones enjoying the latest updates and Amico games, and we look forward to hearing your feedback!

Best wishes and Happy New Year!

Sincerely,

Phil Adam
CEO

¹ While the Amico Home™ app and games are coming next to iOS®, the Amico Controller app for iOS® is available now. The Amico Controller app running on any platform can connect to Amico Home™ running on any platform, so your Amico Controller app on iOS® will connect to your Amico Home™ and game apps running on an Android® device.

² Amico Home™ requires all participating devices to be connected to the same WiFi network, except for the Amico hardware controller which operates via Bluetooth®.

³ A "First Look" game is still in development but is already fun to play, so we make it available now at a reduced price. In exchange for your early feedback, you get all the expanded features as free updates, avoiding the price increases as the game advances to completion.
